Long Island has been FCA's home since it began as an orphanage in 1884. Enduring the highs and lows of the past 130 plus years has provided FCA with a clear picture as to how best to move forward to tackle Long Island's social justice and public health issues. The figures in this report are a testament to your impact on Long Island and your continued support equates to new opportunities for the most vulnerable families in our communities for generations to come.

Dr. Jeffrey Reynolds, CEO & President

2017 ANNUAL REPORT
Dear Friends of FCA,

On behalf of our dedicated Board of Trustees, staff, volunteers and our grateful clients, we are proud to present you with our 2017 Annual Report. Though it’s impossible to capture a year’s worth of life-changing work in a few pages, paragraphs and pictures, we’ve included some highlights, client stories and statistics that help tell FCA’s story.

We expanded our existing programs and launched several new initiatives in 2017, working harder than ever before and fulfilling a promise we first made to Long Island families more than 130 years ago.

As Long Island struggles under the weight of gun violence, a historic heroin/opioid crisis and persistent social, economic and health disparities, the dedicated team at FCA is designing local interventions that produce measurable sustained results and creating new partnerships that will disrupt the status quo.

With renewed financial stability, a talented team, broad community support and a laser-focused commitment to making Long Island an even better place, we know that our very best days lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Reynolds, PhD

OUR REACH

FCA makes a difference by impacting Long Island through a variety of comprehensive programs and services which include addiction treatment, prevention and recovery services; family education and youth services; children’s mental health services; residential services for homeless youth as well as teenagers and adults with serious emotional impairments; and senior services for Long Island’s aging population.

FCA believes that its best practice approach to providing quality care and real opportunities for individuals and families is the key to its longstanding history of making Long Island a better place to live, work and play.
LEADING THE FIGHT TO END THE OPIOID EPIDEMIC

Long Island’s opioid epidemic has left countless Long Islanders from neighborhoods across the island struggling with addiction. We understand that addiction is a disease that affects the entire family. Long Islanders can count on receiving professional care at one of FCA’s multiple Family Treatment and Recovery Centers as well as THRIVE, Long Island’s first Recovery Community and Outreach Center.

FCA has all the necessary components of successful treatment including:

PREVENTION
- School and community-based prevention
- HERTURN

ADDITION SERVICES & TREATMENT
- Hempstead Family Treatment and Recovery Center
- Hicksville Family Treatment and Recovery Center
- Long Island Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence

RECOVERY
- THRIVE Recovery Center

OVER 6,500 MEMBERS of the recovery community and their families can pursue better skills, better relationships, and ultimately better lives thanks to the support and services received at THRIVE.

Empowering at-risk minority women within their community, HER TURN offers the opportunity to better themselves and others through the creation of a community network. This network is founded on education and connection via street outreach, case management and local support groups. Bridging resources from local partners (NuHealth, Northwell, Planned Parenthood, Adelphi, LICADD), HER TURN creates connections for their clients.
A First for Long Island

Family & Children’s Association & Catholic Health Services Offer “SHERPA” Services to Overdose Survivors and their Families

Innovative new SHERPA Program a free service provided by FCA, made up of peer recovery coaches trained to meet with overdose survivors and with their families in emergency departments. The team connects people to treatment, offers peer and family support and provides follow up. SHERPA is supported by NYS Office of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse Services (OASAS), the NYS Senate and LI Community Foundation.

Family navigators and individual peers help others to cope with and transition from addiction to recovery.

“The SHERPA model has been used successfully in emergency departments across the country and up and down the East Coast, and this partnership with Catholic Health Services represents a first for Long Island.”

THRIVE Celebrates Its First Anniversary

THRIVE opened in March of 2017 and has since been engaging with more than 200 people per week. The center has created a new and evolving recovery community on Long Island which continues to grow. Launched in response to our community need for a safe, substance-free place, THRIVE is the first and only of its kind on Long Island.

THRIVE is a cooperative partnership between Family & Children’s Association, Long Island Recovery Association (LIRA), Families in Support of Treatment (F.I.S.T.), and the Long Island Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence (LICADD). THRIVE is funded by the NYS Office of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse Service (OASAS).

“My home away from home, I am grateful beyond words.”
— Melanie L

“Thrive is a safe heaven. A place that gives all avenue’s for recovery. A total support system. A place to grow. A place for families to find support. If you haven’t had the opportunity to stop in yet, please do so. The staff & the volunteer’s are fabulous.”
— Sheila B.
ADVANCED LEARNING FOR PROFESSIONALS IN HEALTH AND ADDICTION

Celebrating the Life of Lynn Vanderhall, Renaming of the Nursery Co-op

FCA held a re-naming ceremony to pay tribute to longtime staff member Lynn Vanderhall, who passed away tragically in August 2017. The agency’s Nursery Co-op, located in Hempstead, was renamed in her honor to commemorate her three decades of service to countless families that Lynn helped to get ahead.

Lynn’s compassionate care to hundreds of children, helped them gain essential skills, preparing them for entry into the school system.

At the ceremony, former FCA client Elena Rios and her son, Stephen Selmer Padilla reminisced on their experience with the Co-Op. When Rios first met Lynn, she was homeless and FCA helped her get back on her feet; she then enrolled her son, Stephen, in the Nursery Co-Op where he thrived. Thanks to the love and support shown while at the Co-Op, Stephen just graduated High School with honors and is looking forward to pursuing a nursing degree at Adelphi University.

Under Lynn’s leadership, the Nursery Co-op grew into an important resource to provide childcare to parents seeking a better life and economic stability through employment, educational and support services. The short-term childcare and case management program operates solely on fundraising dollars and now serves approximately 50 children, two mornings per week.

“We’re proud to recognize Lynn’s incredible dedication to the Long Island community. She is missed dearly by everyone at FCA, and together, we will ensure her legacy lives on through the wonderful work of the program to make a difference in so many lives.”

— Dr. Jeffrey Reynolds
Our 32nd Annual breakfast acknowledged accomplishments of our clients who’ve taken extraordinary measures to focus on furthering their education and the donors who make it possible. 42 FCA clients received scholarship money from many of our generous supporters. The event raised $110,000 to help further the education of our clients.

Over the past 32 years, the event has brought in over $2 million to help fund the educational goals of FCA clients. We were honored to have Logan Cavaliere, a former Nassau Haven and Walkabout resident, speak about his experiences. Logan expressed immense gratitude for FCA and shared some of his past struggles as well as his accomplishments during his time at Walkabout including saving over $10,000, learning how to cook healthy meals and being able to succeed at Nassau Community College.
Generous Grant Awarded by Newsday Charities

In February 2017, FCA received a $50,000 grant through Newsday Charities, a McCormick Foundation Fund to support FCA’s Learning Center program in Hempstead.

The Learning Center continues to serve at-risk, vulnerable adolescents – runaways, homeless youth, those in foster care and those from struggling families. The support and services received help prepare them for employment, college and successful adulthood. The center combines workshops to increase skills that many of these young people lack – from health and nutrition to job seeking skills to learning how to write a winning essay for a college application.

“We’re very grateful to Newsday Charities for their continued support of an initiative that is crucial to shaping the futures of Long Island youth,” said FCA President/CEO, Dr. Jeffrey Reynolds. “Thanks to the generous grant we have received, FCA can continue to provide a thriving environment for teens living in low-income areas where after-school programs have been scarce and underfunded. We look forward to cultivating many more young minds while leading adolescents on a path to success.”

SNUG — GUN VIOLENCE REDUCTION PROGRAM

When Ta’isha Gist, Program Manager of SNUG noticed L.B. smoking marijuana, she discouraged him from using, but before long, he was on to K2 (synthetic marijuana). The drug’s negative side effects, along with pressure to join his brother’s gang wars, took a toll on L.B. However, with Ta’isha’s encouragement, he was able to kick his K2 habit and fight for his life, instead of endangering it. L.B. wound up getting a basketball scholarship and now has two jobs to support himself. “It was a two-and-a-half-year process,” Ta’isha remembers. “If you don’t give up on a person and show that you believe in them, you’ll see results.”

For L.B., the power of SNUG continues to hit home. He credits the program and Ta’isha’s mentoring for “sculpting” him into the man he is today. “Without SNUG, I could potentially be in prison or be dead.”

SNUG employs men and women who are credible messengers to high risk people; these individuals may have been involved in gang or criminal activity, but are now seeking a ‘fresh start.’ We help reduce shootings and homicides in targeted areas, change behaviors and change community norms for individuals in the Village of Hempstead.

FCA’s Gun Violence Reduction program reported a reduction in shooting incidents from:

23 in 2016 to 11 in 2017
“My name is Jonathan, and I come from what many describe as a troubled past. Both my parents abused drugs, and my mother abandoned my family. I had lived with my aunt before my father decided my siblings and I would live with him and his girlfriend. My dad and his girlfriend abused drugs in front of us. My siblings and I were put in foster care but split up into different group homes. At age 19, I signed myself out to live with my aunt again who promised me a healthier life. She eventually left the apartment to be with someone she had met, leaving the bills unpaid and no food in the home.

Feeling scared and alone, having just been diagnosed with Type II Diabetes and not knowing who to turn to, I called my old Project Independence worker at FCA. She recommended FCA’s Nassau Haven Emergency Shelter. I was shocked at how nice the house and the staff were. I stayed for 2 weeks, then I officially moved there.

While at Walkabout, I was able to secure employment, start individual counseling. I was taken to a doctor to receive the appropriate medical care for my diabetes. I formed bonds with the FCA staff, and they became my family. I saved my money while at Walkabout and the staff helped me find an affordable apartment. They helped me decorate my apartment and have periodically checked in with me to make sure I’m doing well. I can’t say that it’s been easy and I know I have difficult days ahead, but I can say I wouldn’t be where I am without having received the support and help of FCA’s Nassau Haven and Walkabout programs.”

86% of the formerly homeless youth served at Walkabout were transformed into young people working towards a successful and independent future.
RAISING AWARENESS AND PROTECTING NASSAU COUNTY SENIORS

Elder abuse, financial exploitation and neglect are often silent, unseen crimes. FCA launched a Senior Financial Exploitation and Abuse program through DCJS grant with the purpose of providing oversight and educating clients to identify a financial predator and advocate on our clients behalf. With a focus on preventive advocacy in the community, our outreach presentations at local community events and senior centers identify risk factors of elder abuse in Nassau County.

The program’s mission is to teach our growing senior population how to identify a scam, financial abuse and/or physical dangers related to exploitation. Our Senior Financial counselors, provide clients with information, assistance, guidance and advocacy to help them continue to manage their finances and maintain their independence.

1809 SENIORS

received vital information about health insurance and Medicare thanks to HICAP (Health Insurance Information Counseling & Assistance Program).
Friendly Visiting Program - Ninety-three-year-old Peter L. is no stranger to the importance of giving back. The World War II Veteran and Purple Heart recipient proudly served his country in the South Pacific, until he was wounded by a bullet that remained lodged inside his shoulder for a decade. Years later, others now are giving back to Peter. Three times a week, the South Hempstead resident is visited by a Friendly Visitor.

PSEG Long Island, known for keeping Long Islanders connected, is helping FCA connect seniors to our Friendly Visitors Program so they can age safely at home. By connecting Friendly Visitor volunteers with seniors, we are able to provide social support and a helping hand. Dedicated FCA Case Managers working for the EISEP program identified the need for home visits which were strictly social in nature to enhance connections to the community and reduce isolation. FCA’s Friendly Visitor Program offers volunteers an opportunity for weekly visits to the homes of isolated, frail seniors living in the community.

IKEA Long Island chose FCA as their “Charity of Choice” and donated comforters, duvet sets, pillows, mattresses, sheets, towels, custom made curtains, furniture, storage containers, wall art and even an outdoor seating area to Nassau Haven, FCA’s emergency runaway/homeless youth shelter. The goal was to ensure Nassau Haven is not only a safe, but a beautiful place. IKEA’s Operations Manager, Greg Murano said of his experience: “Walking through Nassau Haven, it was hard not to tear up, thinking of the kids who come here and the chaotic world they come from. At IKEA we feel that kids are the most important people in the world. To help create an even safer, more welcoming, colorful space for these kids is an absolute privilege. We will always stay connected to FCA.”
Dale Carnegie Training of Long Island provided FCA youth with a leadership and communication skills workshop from their Dale Carnegie Youth Programs. FCA youth had the opportunity to practice public speaking, decision-making skills and grow their self-confidence. Most importantly, they learned how to replace negative attitudes with positive thoughts and actions.

“Our work with FCA youth was a highlight and one of the most rewarding experiences for the Dale Carnegie Training of Long Island Team who were all actively involved in this project. We look forward to supporting the FCA youth in helping them become better leaders and contributors to their community.”

— Don Schatz, President, Dale Carnegie Training of Long Island
Total Wine & More - FCA received 10% of proceeds from sales during the grand opening weekend, totaling $32,000. “FCA’s list of heroes this past year has honored exceptional movers and shakers from several industries dedicated to community giving and David Trone is no different”, said Dr. Jeffrey Reynolds, President/CEO, FCA. Dr. Reynolds continued, “FCA is grateful to close the year’s Hero of the Month group strong, honoring Mr. Trone for his exceptional business leadership and understanding of the tremendous impact organizations like FCA make in the communities they serve.”

LI Philanthropist Debby Rechler - Debby stepped into FCA’s Nursery Co-op and the kids stole her heart and she became tied to our mission. After hearing about FCA’s Safe & Warm Quilt Initiative, Debby immediately brought home four fabric squares and thought about how she could help to make the project grow and help build awareness for homeless youth on LI. As a longtime supporter of the Long Island Children’s Museum, Debby introduced the project to them and fully sponsored the program for 300 squares so the museum would be able to host several days of quilt creation for children and their families.
2017 Harvest Celebration Event

Nearly $270,000 was raised at the 2017 Fall Harvest Celebration, benefiting the agency’s programs and services for Long Island’s most vulnerable populations.

More than 200 guests were in attendance at the lively fundraiser, which featured nearly 100 auction items and an extended cocktail hour. A taco stand and photo booth added to the spirited atmosphere.

FCA honored Jed Morey, President, Morey Publishing and Patrick O’Shaughnessy, DO, MBA, FACEP, CHCQM, Executive Vice President of Medical Affairs and Chief Medical Officer (CMO) at Catholic Health Services of Long Island (CHS).
